From Plymouth to Plymouth

There were 102 passengers on the Mayflower when she left Plymouth, England. On the voyage there was one death and one birth. While the Mayflower was in Cape Cod Harbor, there were four deaths and one birth. The two births between the departure from Plymouth, England, and the arrival at Plymouth, New England, make the total passenger list 104. The five deaths between Plymouth and Plymouth make the number of passengers to arrive at Plymouth, New England, 99. The voyage from Southampton to Cape Cod Harbor took 98 days, to Plymouth Harbor, 133 days; from Plymouth, England, to Cape Cod Harbor, 66 days; to Plymouth Harbor, 101 days.
 Not a Pilgrim returned on the Mayflower.

About one half of the Pilgrims died during the first three months after their arrival.

The Mayflower

The ship Mayflower was double decked with additional high decks fore and aft, about 90 feet long and 24 feet beam, and according to Bradford her tonnage was 180. On the voyage one of the main beams amidships buckled dangerously but was raised into place by a great screw or jack that one of the passengers had brought on board. Captain Christopher Jones "knew the ship to be firm and strong under water" and so she proved. There is no proof that the Mayflower of the Pilgrims made subsequent voyages to New England.

Mr. Stephen Hopkins

Mayflower Passenger

"He was of the Leyden congregation, but joined them in London where he belonged. He was of a large family and considerable estate; perhaps the least educated of the Pilgrims, and about the only one that signed his name with a cross. He seems to have been a man of practical judgment, good business qualifications, and a valuable acquisition to the colony."

"He was an energetic, self reliant, and fearless man, and of good judgment in matters of business, and the pilgrims were indeed fortunate in having him with them in the settlement to pass judgment upon secular matters that might come up."

He died in Plymouth in 1644. He desired to be buried by the side of his wife deceased.

Capt. Shubael⁶ Snow

Shubael Snow at the age of 14 went to the grand banks as cook with his brother Capt. Jonathan. He came to Boston to wash out fish and he ran off and shipped as cabin boy on a ship. Capt. Jonathan notified their father Jonathan Snow of Shubael's flight and he came to Boston but allowed him to remain on the ship. At the age of 18 he was placed in command of the brig "Alert" of Baltimore. At the age of 22 he was promoted to ship "Almy" of Fells Point Baltimore, Maryland. He joined the Masonic Lodge at Fells Point, Maryland. The same year he made a voyage to France and had his portrait painted in Bordeau, bust size. The ship "Almy" was lost on Cape Cod by Shubael's brother John. In 1804 he was in a brig and frozen in ice in the Baltic Sea.

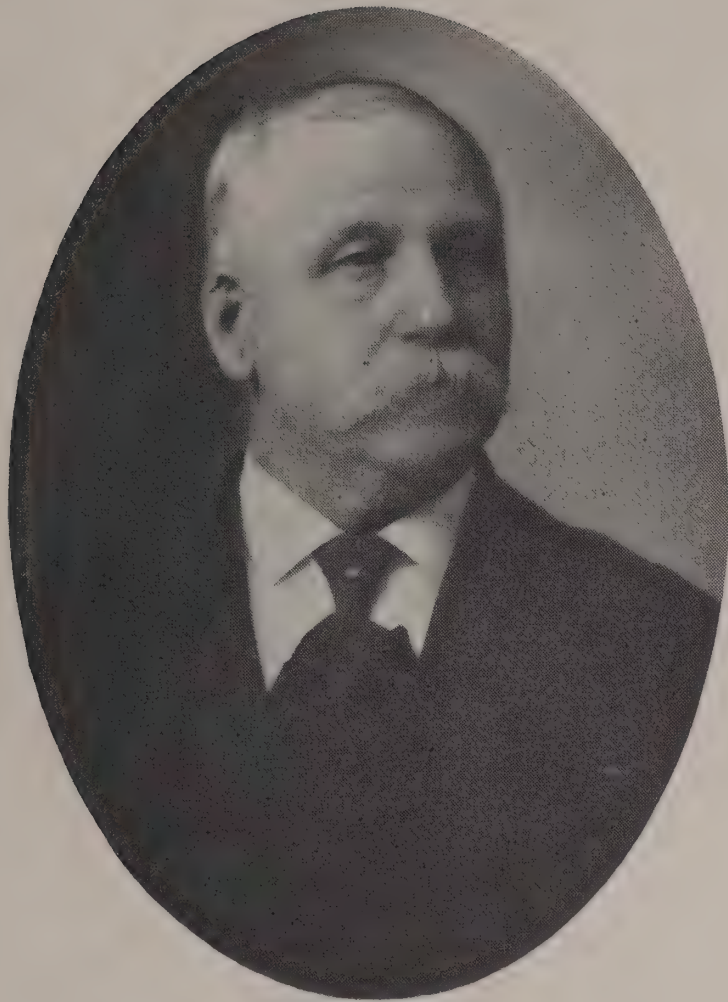

Shubael's two wives were cousins to him and to each other.

Shubael was the son of Jonathan Snow; Betsey his 1st wife the daughter of Anthony Snow and Thankful his 2nd wife the daughter of Sylvanus Snow. All three sons of Deacon Anthony and Sarah (Paine) Snow.

Shubael had 9 sons by two wives—6 of them lost or died at sea.

Ephraim Anthony Snow at the age of 22 acquired the command of a schooner and for nearly a decade he commanded a freighter plying between New York and southern ports. He spent 12 summers in command of yachts, having sailed Schooners Peerless, Wiven, Coronilla; Sloops Puritan and Thetis, and Schooner Alert, having superintended the building of the latter. He commanded the Sloop Yacht Thetis in the famous race with the British cutter Stranger from Newport to Marblehead on Sept. 20, 1886. This race was a semi-international affair, and during the entire race with cutter conditions of weather, Capt. Snow stood by the wheel himself and beat the British boat into Marblehead by several hours. Capt. Snow was aboard the Puritan when she successfully defended the American cup against Sir Richard Sutton's cutter Genesta in 1885, and he afterwards commanded that splendid yacht. In 1898 the Alert was fitted out for a cruise to the West Indies and sailed in command of Capt. Snow. The parties who were to cruise in the yacht sailed from New York to La Guayra by steamer, but the Alert got to port ahead of them, making the trip from the Virginia capes to La Guayra in 10 days. During this trip among the West Indies the Spanish war broke out, and the parties chartering the yacht came home by steamship and suggested to Capt. Snow that he register the yacht under the British flag and bring her home that way. Capt. Snow, with characteristic Yankee grit said: "She goes home under the stars and stripes or she goes home without me," and home she came with starry banner flying from the topmast head. He was a thoroughly honest and courageous sailor with a kindly disposition which endeared him to all who ever knew him.

Hynckley — Henkele — Henkle — Hinckley England

The village of Harrietsham lies next to Lenham and seven miles southeast of Maidstone. It contains a very ancient church, the earliest part of which is said to date from 1150. The old font, in which doubtless the Hinckley children were baptized, still remains (1911).

Steden Street where one of John Hynckley's tenements was, is not a name known to the present inhabitants of Harrietsham, but it seems probable that it was in that part of the village where rises Stede Hill at the foot of which nestles the church and on the crest on which is Stede Court.

Mr. Edmond Freeman

From Devonshire or Oxford England.

Born about 1590. He came from England in the year 1635 in the ship Abigail; Richard Hackwell, Master. With him were his wife Elizabeth, children Elizabeth 12 yrs. Alice 17 yrs. Edmund 15 yrs, and John 8 yrs.

He was at Saugus alias Lynn in 1635.

He was admitted freeman at Plymouth 2, Jan. 1637; resided a short time in Duxbury, obtained leave of the Colonial Government to commence the establishment of the first English town on the Cape, 3, April 1637, with 9 other men. About two years later the first successful settlement within what came to be known as Barnstable County was legally incorporated as the town of Sandwich.

Called in his latter days to bury his wife, and this was only a few years before his own decease:—the town records show that "Mrs. Elizabeth Freeman died Feb. 14, 1675/6,"—the bereaved husband feeling that some memorial should mark the spot where had been committed to earth the mortal remains of her who had until now been the companion of his earthly pilgrimage, and knowing that monuments wrought by the sculptor were not easily to be obtained, bethought himself of a substitute. Summoning to his aid his two sons and his grandson Matthias, soon after the funeral, he led the way to a large stone, or rock, in a neighboring field,—which stone strikingly resembled a pillion. This was taken, and by oxen driven by Ellis, was hauled to the recent grave. Putting it in place, he then caused yet another to be brought from the field; and this stone, having in form, as was conceived, a resemblance to a saddle, was placed beside the former to designate the precise spot "where ere long another grave must be digged." Admonished by bereavement now added to the infirmities of age, that the time of his own departure could not be far distant, he had thought proper to provide, in the absence of monuments more desirable these fancied emblems of the conveniences on which in the prime of life and to old age he and wife had often travelled to-gether.

His injunction then was, "Here, after death shall have called your father, bring my earthly remains, and lay by the side of your mother; place the saddle upon my grave, and so let us rest until the resurrection day." The command was of course heeded by survivors.

Buried on his own land on the hill in the rear of his dwelling.

The site though not greatly elevated, presents an extended view both of the surrounding landscape and bay. This is the oldest burying place known in Sandwich.

Inscriptions have been put upon these stones in recent years.

Francis Cook Mayflower Passenger.

Francis Cook's ancestry and home before he joined the Pilgrims are unknown. Much has been written on this point but the evidence advanced is not sufficient to establish the claims made. We know he was an Englishman, was with the Pilgrims at Leyden, and married in Holland. The date of his birth is also unknown and the record of his death contains no mention of age; but in August 1643 the Plymouth authorities made a list of all men in the colony between the ages of 16 and 60 who were able to bear arms. The fact that Francis Cook's name appears in this list is sufficient evidence that he was then under 60 years of age. He must therefore have been born abt. Aug. 1583. Against this official record which is practically the statement of Francis Cook himself and must be accepted accordingly, can be put nothing but the following entry in Bradford's list of passengers. "Francis Cooke is still living a very old man, and hath seene his children's children, have children." and the marginal note in an unknown hand, "dyed 7, of April 1663 above 80."

Francis Cooke was probably a husbandman after he came to Plymouth as there is no evidence that he had a trade and both his sons became farmers. He was not dignified by the title of "Mr." but his frequent service on the grand inquest and trail juries and as a surveyor of highways makes it clear that he was a man of sound judgment and had the respect and confidence of the community.

Francis Cooke and son John embarked on the Speedwell at Delfs-haven in July 1620 leaving behind Hester and the other children. In the latter part of July 1623 wife Hester came to Plymouth in the Anne bringing the rest of the children.

Gov. Thomas Prence

Thomas Prence, The distinguished leader in the settlement of this town (Eastham) was born in England. He came to Plymouth in ship Fortune which arrived in 1621, being then in the twenty second year of his age."

1624 He married Patience, the daughter of Elder Brewster.

1634 He was chosen Governor of the colony.

1635 His wife having died, he married Mary, the daughter of Mr. William Collier of Duxbury. This year he was appointed an Assistant to the Governor.

1638 He was again chosen Governor of the colony.

1657 While residing in Eastham, he was the third time chosen Governor. The law required that the Governor should live in Plymouth, but a dispensation by the court was granted in his favor, and he continued, while holding this office, to reside in Eastham for seven years.

1665 He removed to Plymouth and was not afterwards a citizen of Eastham.
Died 29, March 1678.

He left seven daughters, all of whom were married while he lived.

His son Thomas went to England, where he married and died young.

"His appearance, it is said, was peculiarly dignified and striking.

He was excellently qualified for the office of Governor, had a countenance full of majesty, and was therein a terror to evil doers."

Mr. Samuel Freeman

It is said, and with good reason, that Samuel Freeman was a step-son of Gov. Thomas Prence; and that he settled in Eastham with the Prence family, about 1645. The numerous Freeman families who have lived on Cape Cod are descended from Samuel Freeman, of Eastham, and Edmond Freeman, of Sandwich. It is not known that they were related, but it seems probable.

Samuel Freeman was admitted a freeman, June 1, 1658. He was a constable in Eastham, June 3, 1668, a surveyor of highways in Eastham, June 7, 1670,—June 9, 1683, a grand juryman June 3, 1674, a deacon of the church in Eastham, and a representative, 1697.

Samuel Freeman was often called on by his neighbors in connection with the settlement of their estates. He and John Mayo were appointed by Nicholas Snow to "oversee the true and faithful performance of this my last will and testament", Nov. 14, 1676.

Samuel Freeman was a witness to John Doane's will, May 18, 1678. He was appointed an advisor to the administrator of Thomas Rogers' estate, Oct. 30, 1678. He took an inventory of Thomas Paine's estate, Aug. 30, 1706. He was also a witness to the settlement of Ephraim Kemton's estate, June 8, 1658; and he was a witness to Richard Sparrow's will, Nov. 19, 1660. Samuel Freeman's name also appears on other legal documents. He purchased a part of Gov. Thomas Prence's estate; and Gov. Prence referred to him as his son-in-law, (step-son).

Samuel Freeman was a son of Samuel Freeman, of Watertown, Samuel Freeman Sr., came to America from Malling, about five miles from Maidstone County of Kent, England, probably with Gov. Winthrop's fleet, in 1630. The wife of Samuel Freeman Sr., was Apphia (....), by whom he had three children. Samuel Freeman Sr. died in England, about 1639, having gone there on business. There is good reason to believe that his widow married Gov. Thomas Prence, before Dec. 8, 1662; and if she did, she died before Aug. 1, 1668.

Elder William Brewster Mayflower Passenger.

"William Brewster cradled the church at Scrooby, in his own home. He devoted his means to the support of its ministers and the succor of its members. After suffering fine and imprisonment and risking his life for this heresy, he helped the little flock to Holland where his duty as Elder intrusted him especially with the discipline and building up of the church and preservation therein of soundness of doctrine. This duty he successfully performed with great gentleness and equal firmness.

He drafted the Compact of November 21, 1620 in the cabin of the Mayflower. He was the moral, religious and spiritual leader of the colony during its first years of peril and struggle and its chief civil advisor and trusted guide until the time of his death. But for his ecclesiastical position he would have been Governor of the Colony.

In the light of recent research he stands out more clearly than ever, the leading figure of the Mayflower and of Plymouth. He was of gentle birth, educated at Cambridge, a Courtier before he was 21, yrs. of age, in high esteem with Her Majesty's Secretary of State, treated by him more like a son than a servant, soon a member of the English Embassy to Holland, after loyally and faithfully serving his patron Davidson who was deposed from high position by the perfidy of the Queen—he, after suffering years of persecution in building up the Mayflower Church at Scrooby, left his native land, his position and his fortune to be an exile in Holland and a pilgrim to America. This "Chief of the Pilgrims" was a Puritan of the Puritans in all that makes puritanism a power for good, for purity, for piety, for valor, and a terror to evil doers, but in nothing else.

The sourness, the barrenness, the vulgarities of puritanism seemed left out of Elder Brewster's composition. The spiritual leader of our Pilgrim Ancestors—the transplanter of the first N. E. Meeting House, the suggester of the first N. E. town meeting, was in everything throughout his life, in everything we know of his thought, and action, a Christian gentleman."
